Definitions of Faculty and Staff Status

Faculty

Core faculty of the Stone Center for Latin American Studies hold regular faculty appointments, engage in research in Latin America, and teach one or more Latin American content courses or direct M.A. theses or Ph.D. dissertations on the area. Associate faculty are regular faculty who engage in research in Latin America or teach Latin American content courses. Affiliate faculty are regular faculty or administrators with demonstrated research interests in Latin America. Visiting faculty occupy post-doctoral, adjunct or visiting faculty positions and have demonstrated research interests in Latin America.

Professional Staff

Professional staff members at Tulane University occupy non-clerical positions and have job responsibilities which are vital to those activities associated with the obligations of the Title VI National Resource Center.

Definition of Language Levels

Language levels are determined by faculty through a ranking scale modified from the most recent American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages assessment scales. Language proficiencies are based upon all four major language rating criteria: speaking, reading, writing and listening. An average of these four core criteria determines faculty proficiency ratings. Ranking scale is 1-5, from lowest to highest level of proficiency based in the declared language.
