AMÉRICAS AWARD FOR CHILDREN’S AND YOUNG ADULT LITERATURE

The Américas Award is given annually in recognition of U.S. published works of poetry, fiction, folklore, or selected non-fiction (from picture books to works for young adults) that authentically and engagingly portray Latin America, the Caribbean, or Latinos in the United States. By linking the Americas, the award reaches beyond geographic borders, as well as multicultural boundaries, focusing instead upon cultural heritages within the hemisphere.

Founded by the Consortium of Latin American Studies Programs (CLASP) in 1993, the Américas Award places special emphasis on the books’ relevance in K-12 classrooms and provides related curricular materials, including teaching guides, annotated bibliographies, and suggested thematic sets.

The awards are administered by the Consortium of Latin American Studies Programs (CLASP) and coordinated by Tulane University and Vanderbilt University. Generous support is also provided by Florida International University, Stanford University, University of Florida, University of New Mexico, University of Utah, and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.
